NEW QUESTION: 3

You are designing a Windows Presentation Foundation (WPF) application. The application calls methods that perform long-running computational tasks.

You need to recommend an approach for ensuring that the application remains responsive while the tasks are executing. What are two possible ways to achieve this goal? (Each correct answer presents a complete solution. Choose two.)

- A. Run the user interface from a new multi-threaded apartment (MTA) thread.
- B. Use synchronous method calls from the user interface thread.
- C. Use synchronous method calls from a thread other than the thread on which the user interface runs.
- D. Use asynchronous method calls from the user interface thread.
