NEW QUESTION: 1
A firm has entered into a long-term purchase obligation. This will allow the firm to obtain raw materials for operations at a known price over the next 6 years. This obligation must be reflected on the balance sheet as:
A. a long-term liability.
B. none of these answers.
C. a footnote disclosure.
D. a current liability until the first purchase occurs.

Answer: C
Explanation:
Explanation/Reference:
Explanation:
It is important to recognize that liabilities arise and are recognized on the balance-sheet only if the firm has consumed at least a part of the services or goods under the contract. Until then, a liability is not admitted since there is no corresponding asset or equity that has been generated (a similar principle holds for the recognition of assets). However, due to the bonding nature of the contract, it must be disclosed in footnotes along with the relevant details so that analysts can figure in the impact of all such agreements while evaluating the future health of the firm.

NEW QUESTION: 2
Refer to the Exhibit.

An administrator is adding an NFS datastore as shown in the Exhibit.
What is the purpose of the Servers to be added list?
A. It contains the IP addresses of the ESXi hosts that mount the datastore.
B. It contains the IP addresses used for Static Discovery of targets.
C. It contains the IP addresses used for Dynamic Discovery of targets.
D. It contains the IP addresses of the NFS Storage Server to provide multipathing capability.
Answer: D

NEW QUESTION: 3
An alert is issued from the SIEM that indicates a large number of failed logins for the same account name on one of the application servers starting at 10:20 a.m. No other significant failed login activity is detected. Using Splunk to search for activity pertaining to that account name, a security analyst finds the account has been authenticating successfully for some time and started to fail this morning. The account is attempting to authenticate from an internal server that is running a database to an application server. No other security activity is detected on the network. The analyst discovers the account owner is a developer who no longer works for the company. Which of the following is the MOST likely reason for the failed login attempts for that account?
A. The license for the application has expired, and the failed logins will continue to occur until a new license key is installed on the application
B. The account that is failing to authenticate has not been maintained, and the company password change policy time frame has been reached for that account

C. A successful malware attack has provided someone access to the network, and failed login attempts are an indication of an attempt to privilege access to the application
D. The host-based firewall is blocking port 389 LDAP communication, preventing the login credentials from being received by the application server
Answer: B

* Internet to web tier:
- Provides URL-based routing
- Supports connection draining
- Prevents SQL injection attacks
* Web tier to application tier:
- Provides port forwarding
- Supports HTTPS health probes
- Supports an availability set as a backend pool
Which load balancing solution should you recommend for each tier? To answer, select the appropriate options in the answer area.
NOTE:Each correct selection is worth one point.
Answer:
Explanation:

Explanation
Box 1: An Azure Application Gateway that has a web application firewall (WAF) Azure Application Gateway offers a web application firewall (WAF) that provides centralized protection of your web applications from common exploits and vulnerabilities. Web applications are increasingly targeted by malicious attacks that exploit commonly known vulnerabilities. SQL injection and cross-site scripting are among the most common attacks.
Application Gateway operates as an application delivery controller (ADC). It offers Secure Sockets Layer (SSL) termination, cookie-based session affinity, round-robin load distribution, content-based routing, ability to host multiple websites, and security enhancements.
Box 2: An internal Azure Standard Load Balancer
The internet to web tier is the public interface, while the web tier to application tier should be internal.
Note: When using load-balancing rules with Azure Load Balancer, you need to specify a health probes to allow Load Balancer to detect the backend endpoint status.

Health probes support the TCP, HTTP, HTTPS protocols.
