NEW QUESTION: 1

You administer a Microsoft SQL Server database named Sales. The database is 3 terabytes in size. The Sales database is configured as shown in the following table:

You discover that Sales_2.ndf is corrupt. You need to recover the corrupted data in the minimum amount of time. What should you do?

- A. Perform a file restore.
- B. Perform a transaction log restore.
- C. Perform a filegroup restore.
- D. Perform a restore from a full backup.

Answer: A

Explanation:

-- BURGOS - YES (different order of choices)

I put a reference ms186858 below. Is possible to restore FILE or FILEGROUP in SQL 2012 and this choice sounds better to me. In original VCE file appers another equal question that suggest to use a FULL restore,

I delete this question.

--\Burgos.

NEW QUESTION: 2

Which object can you use for permission assignments? (Please choose the correct answer.)

- A. Models
- B. Roles
- C. Teams
- D. Users

Answer: D

NEW QUESTION: 3

Two of your project team members approach you with a conflict that they are having with each other over the technical approach to their work. One of the two people is very aggressive, and tries to get you to make a decision quickly. The other team member is quiet, and seems less willing to talk about the issue. The conflict is starting to cause delays, and you need to reach a decision quickly. What's the BEST approach to solving this conflict?

- A. Tell the team members that they need to work this out quickly, because otherwise the project could face delays.
- B. Confront the issue, even though one team member is hesitant.
- C. Since it's a technical problem, tell the team members that they should take it to the functional manager.
- D. Escalate the issue to your manager.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The best way to resolve any problem is to confront the issue - because "confronting" means figuring out the source of the problem and then resolving the root cause of the conflict. Any time you have an opportunity to confront the problem, you should do it. Remember, one of the most important things that a project manager does is make sure that team conflicts get resolved. Sometimes questions are worded so that the word "confronting" sounds negative. Even when it is, it's still the best approach to resolving conflicts!
