NEW QUESTION: 2

The Information Security Officer (ISO) believes that the company has been targeted by cybercriminals and it is under a cyber attack. Internal services that are normally available to the public via the Internet are inaccessible, and employees in the office are unable to browse the Internet. The senior security engineer starts by reviewing the bandwidth at the border router, and notices that the incoming bandwidth on the router's external interface is maxed out. The security engineer then inspects the following piece of log to try and determine the reason for the downtime, focusing on the company's external router's IP which is 128.20.176.19:

```
11:16:22.110343 IP 90.237.31.27.19 > 128.20.176.19.19: UDP, length 1400
```

```
11:16:22.110351 IP 23.27.112.200.19 > 128.20.176.19.19: UDP, length 1400
```

```
11:16:22.110358 IP 192.200.132.213.19 > 128.20.176.19.19: UDP, length 1400
```

```
11:16:22.110402 IP 70.192.2.55.19 > 128.20.176.19.19: UDP, length 1400
```

```
11:16:22.110406 IP 112.201.7.39.19 > 128.20.176.19.19: UDP, length 1400
```

Which of the following describes the findings the senior security engineer should report to the ISO and the BEST solution for service restoration?

- A. After the senior engineer used the above IPS logs to detect the ongoing DDOS attack, an IPS filter should be enabled to block the attack and restore communication.
- B. After the senior engineer used a network analyzer to identify an active Fraggle attack, the company's ISP should be contacted and instructed to block the malicious packets.
- C. After the senior engineer used a packet capture to identify an active Smurf attack, an ACL should be placed on the company's external router to block incoming UDP port 19 traffic.
- D. After the senior engineer used a mirror port to capture the ongoing amplification attack, a BGP sinkhole should be configured to drop traffic at the source networks.

Answer: B

Explanation:

The exhibit displays logs that are indicative of an active fraggle attack. A Fraggle attack is similar to a smurf attack in that it is a denial of service attack, but the difference is that a fraggle attack makes use of ICMP and UDP ports 7 and 19. Thus when the senior engineer uses a network analyzer to identify the attack he should contact the company's ISP to block those malicious packets.
